

BT

- Reduced operational risk and manual interventions needed to stand up network services
- Removed complexity involved in standing up network services with automation across the enterprise
- Outlined a new way of delivering network services

“We’ve outlined a new way of delivering network services, something that has never been done before. This is disruptive to the market and allows our customers to view their network in a way they’ve never viewed it before.”

Winston Carrera
CTO, Global Banking & Financial Markets
BT

