Big performance for small sites

Benefits

- High performance routers for smaller sites
- Flexible options to fit your exact requirements
- Cut cost without compromising functionality
- Support a wide range of connection types
- Protect your data with built-in security

Every business has the same requirements when it comes to performance, security or accessing business applications.

Yet typically selecting a router has meant choosing between an affordable price and important services and functionality. Too often these have been reserved for larger and more expensive devices designed for larger organisations.

But with Cisco's 800 and 1900 Integrated Services Routers, there's no compromise.

The right performance: Enterprise features and functionality

Cisco 800 and 1900 routers are packed with the leading performance and features you need so you don't need to compromise for smaller sites:

- High Speed access
- Fixed and mobile access
- Local and Wide Area Networks
- Virtual Private Networks
- Integrated security
- And support for voice

Plus:

- Support for applications
- Support for evolution to cloud-based services
- Easy installation and remote management

The right specification: routers to suit every requirement

With a wide range of options, you can choose the one that fits your exact requirements.

Cisco 800 series routers offer:

- All-in-one solutions for single sites in one compact device that's quick to install
- Models designed for offices up to 10, 20 or 50 people
- Options for voice integration
- Options to support Internet of Things, industrial and machine-to-machine requirements

Cisco 1900 series routers provide:

- Secure, high performance for small and branch offices

- Modular design to leverage existing infrastructure and enable future expansion

- Agile Application Services, including the ability to host Cisco or multiple third-party applications on ISM modules for mission-critical applications

All at the right price

By getting the router that's got the right features at the right size for your needs already means you're being cost effective.

And with our simpler deployment and management you'll spend less on IT resources.

All this adds up to lower TCO. Great news for your growing business.
